

January 29, 2015

Dear Colleagues,

The 2015 AAUP/AAUP-CBC Summer Institute is coming to the University of Denver! Who says summer school can't be fun? From July 23 to 26, you can join more than two hundred other higher education professionals from around the country for a long weekend of exciting workshops and special programs.

There's a reason the Summer Institute is our most popular program. We bring in organizers, data analysts, seasoned campaigners, and issue experts to build your skills as an advocate for AAUP principles, collective bargaining, and higher education.

There will also be plenty of time in the program for social events, informal networking, and exploring our beautiful host city.

Let some past participants tell you about it in this video created by participants in last year's Summer Institute.

Stay tuned for further updates on registration and program details:
<http://www.aaup.org/event/2015-summer-institute>

--Christopher Simeone, Director of Chapter and Conference Services
csimeone@aaup.org